Web Development

Throughout my life I have contributed to various businesses through effective organization, efficient work, and a desire to learn and try new things. I bring a combination of levity, wit, and seriousness to all of my endeavors.

As a self motivated worker, I also highly value working alongside those with more experience.

I am seeking to use my skills from varied workplaces to excel in a new career path with room to grow. Currently, I am pursuing an entry level position developing web applications with a focus on the front-end.

Web Projects

Friend Finder - NodeJS based game. Users fill out an online survey to match themselves with a character from the show "Tim and Eric".

Memory Game - Front-end project using React. User clicks different images trying not to click the same one twice.

Google Books Search - React app that uses Google Books API to retrieve information on a user's search. React on the front end with mongodb on the back-end for storing the results of the search. Users can search for and save books to a database.

Word Guess - CLI based word guessing game similar to hangman created with NodeJS and modular javascript.

Code Pacer -

- Developed the user facing components using React.
- Worked with a seasoned developer to create a self-pacing tool for people interested in learning to code.
- Became familiar with Agile methodology and Kanban process.
